

Spring 2024

Welcome to Spring, a season that might be motivational for personal, business and financial renewal. We hope you enjoy the sunshine and warmer weather.

Global stock markets – including the ASX – largely stabilized by the end of August after a turbulent month.

It was a rocky start when markets everywhere fell after news of high unemployment figures in the US and an interest rate move by Japan's central bank. Despite the dramas, the S&P/ASX 200 closed 1.28% higher for the month marking a gain of just over 10% for the 12 months to date.

A slight drop in inflation figures – down to 3.5% in July from 3.8% the previous month – has investors checking the Reserve Bank's reaction but most economists agree there's no chance of an interest rate cut this year. The RBA's not forecasting inflation to get to its preferred levels until late 2026 or early 2027.

While the cost of living has dropped over so slightly (and partly due to $300 federal government rebates on electricity bills), wages have risen. The Australian Bureau of Statistics reports that wages rose by 4.1% in the year to June. It means that wages are now keeping up with the cost of living.

The good news from the markets and inflation data contributed to a small upswing in consumer confidence although there's still much ground to recover after the losses caused by Covid-19.

Retirement is filled with opportunities and choices. There's the time to travel more, work on long-delayed personal projects or volunteer your help to worthwhile causes.

You also have a host of choices to make when it comes to funding your new life away from paid work. Here are four different options to consider.ⁱ

Account-Based Pension

An account-based pension (ABP) using your superannuation is one of the most common retirement income options. The amount you receive depends on the balance of your account and the draw down rate you choose, subject to the minimum pension requirements set by the government.

Some considerations:

- Tax benefits—Investment earnings, capital gains and withdrawals are tax-free, unless you have an untaxed component within your super.
- Payment flexibility—Subject to pension minimums, most super funds allow you to adjust the payment amount and frequency, and even make partial or full lump-sum withdrawals if needed. You can also return to work and continue to receive a pension.
- Longevity and market risks—You might outlive your account balance, especially if your withdrawals are high or your investment returns are poor.

Transition to Retirement

A transition to retirement (TIR) strategy allows access to some of your superannuation while still working, if you have reached age 60 (based on current ruled).ⁱⁱ

Some considerations:

- Flexible work options—You can reduce your working hours and supplement your income from your super.
- Limits on pension rates—Similar to an ABP, there is a minimum annual pension rate. However, there is also a maximum annual withdrawal of 10 per cent of your TTR account balance.
- Reduced retirement savings—Drawing on your superannuation while still working means your retirement savings might grow more slowly.

Annuities

An annuity is a financial product that provides a guaranteed income for a specified period or for the rest of your life. There are various types of annuities, including fixed, variable, and indexed annuities. You can purchase annuities or lifetime income streams using your superannuation.

Some considerations:

- Predictable income—Provides a stable income stream, which can be reassuring for financial stability and provide an income for as long as you live.
- Lack of flexibility—Once you purchase an annuity, the terms are generally fixed and you cannot alter the income amount. There's a restriction on capital withdrawals or in some instances no access to capital at all.
- Inflation risk—Fixed non-inflation-linked annuities may not keep pace with inflation unless specifically indexed to inflation.

Innovative Retirement Income Scheme

An Innovative Retirement Income Stream (IRIS) is provided by a newer range of products. These were introduced after changes to regulations designed to deliver more certainty to retirement income by paying a pension for life without running out of funds.

Some considerations:

- Age Pension benefits—Centrelink only counts 60 per cent of the pension payments received as assessable income and only 60 per cent of the purchase price of the product counts as an assessable asset until age 84 when it is reduced.
- Certainty—Some IRIS products offer a stable guaranteed income stream, providing financial security.
- No minimum requirements—IRIS products do not require an annual minimum amount, instead just requiring at least one annual payment.
- Complexity—Features vary widely between different IRIS products and may involve complex terms and conditions.

INSURING AGAINST LOSS OF INCOME

Processing income from unexpected illness and injury is particularly important to anyone with a mortgage to service, small business owners and self-employed people with no sick leave available.

With income protection insurance, you can be paid some 70 per cent of your income for a specified period of time when you cannot work.ⁱ

The most common claims are for illnesses such as cancer, heart attack, anxiety and depression.ⁱⁱ Payments generally last from two to five years although you can take a policy of up to a certain age, such as 65, and the amount is generally based on 70 per cent of your income in the 12 months prior to the injury or illness.ⁱⁱⁱ

For some, income protection insurance may be part and parcel of your superannuation although more commonly this is limited to life insurance, and total and permanent disability cover. But, if you do have income protection insurance in your super, check the extent of the automatic cover as it can be modest.

Alternatively, you could take out a policy outside super where you will enjoy tax deductibility on the premiums. Income protection insurance is the only insurance that is tax deductible. Other life insurance products outside super such as trauma insurance are not tax deductible.

Work out a budget

There are many considerations when looking at income protection insurance and the best place to start is to work out your budget, thinking about how much would you need to maintain your family's lifestyle if you are unable to work. Then you are able to decide on the appropriate level of income protection insurance as well as other factors that affect premiums such as how quickly you might need the payments to start and how long these payments will last.

Many people think income protection insurance is expensive, but you can fine tune policies to suit your budget by changing the percentage payment amount, the length of time for which you would receive the payment and how soon you start getting a payment once you cannot work. Reducing these parameters can reduce your premiums.

Check the policy details

It is important to be mindful of a number of factors that might affect the success of any claim you might make. So, make sure you read the product disclosure statement.

Every insurer has a different definition as to what will trigger a payment, so you need to understand the difference between "own occupation" and "any occupation" and "any occupation" for cover. For example, if you are a surgeon and lose capacity in one of your hands, you will receive a payout from your insurer if you have specified "own" occupation because you can no longer work as a surgeon.

But if you opt for "any" occupation, then the insurer could argue that you could still work as a doctor just not as a surgeon and the claim may not be paid.

It is also wise to understand that if your policy does not see your medical history, it is likely there could be limitations to what illnesses are covered.

Another consideration is whether you have stepped or level premiums. Stepped premiums start low and usually increase as you age. Level premiums begin at a higher rate but typically don't increase until you reach 65. In the long run, level may work out cheaper for some.^v You must work at least 20 hours a week to take out income protection insurance and you can usually only buy a policy up to the age of 60. Also, if you receive a payout, you need to declare that income on your tax return.

If you want to check that you have sufficient cover to protect you and your family should you lose your income, then give us a call to discuss.

Holidaying OFF THE TOURIST TRAIL

When we dream of an overseas holiday, our minds often drift to iconic landmarks, bustling cities, and well-trodden tourist paths. While these destinations have their allure, travel to popular destinations is booming and comes with challenges so there are advantages to venturing off the beaten track and seeking out the hidden gems.

Travel is booming – and creating some headaches

It's no secret that we Aussies love to travel outside our own country. Last year nearly 10 million of us headed overseas, marking a 12 per cent increase from the previous year, and this year is shaping up to continue the trend.ⁱ And it's not just us enjoying getting out there and travelling the world, global figures anticipate international travel will soon exceed pre-pandemic levels and surpass 2 billion for the second time ever.ⁱⁱ

That adds up to a lot of people out there travelling and some popular destinations are showing the strain with skyrocketing prices, excessive queues, damage at historical sites and environmental impacts all being felt.

Tensions are high in some areas with tourists in Barcelona, Spain recently doused in water by frustrated locals and authorities in the historic city centre of Florence banning new short-term holiday rentals to try to relieve some of the pressure of over-tourism.

Taking the road less travelled can help areas suffering from over-tourism and support those communities who would welcome more visitors.

Supporting communities that need it

Tourism plays a significant role in the economic growth of many communities around the world and there are many places that would really benefit from the tourist dollar. The money you spend as you travel can contribute meaningfully to local economies and help support small businesses, artisans, and entrepreneurs, ensuring that future generations can continue to enjoy unique destinations.

But there are plenty of less altruistic reasons to seek out the hidden gems when you travel though.

Authentic Encounters

One of the lovely aspects of travelling to less touristy places is the opportunity to immerse yourself in local cultures. Away from tourist hotspots, communities maintain their unique traditions, cuisines, and ways of life. Imagine strolling through a market where locals gather to sell fresh produce, handicrafts, and homemade delicacies, or stumbling upon a hidden café where the owner shares stories of their town's history. These encounters create lasting memories and offer a genuine glimpse into the daily lives of people from different corners of the world.

Unspoiled natural beauty

Nature enthusiasts will find bliss in exploring destinations that are off the typical tourist radar. Picture deserted beaches with powdery sand and crystal-clear waters, hiking trails winding through lush forests, or breathtaking untouched landscapes. Whether you're seeking solitude in nature or hoping to capture stunning photographs without a sea of selfie sticks in the background, less touristy places often boast natural beauty that remains unspoiled and awe-inspiring.

Affordable adventures

Travelling to less touristy places can also be kinder to your wallet. Accommodation, dining, and activities in popular tourist hubs tend to come with inflated price tags due to high demand. In contrast destinations that are yet to be discovered by the masses often offer more affordable options. You might find charming family-run guesthouses, budget-friendly eateries serving local dishes, and reasonably priced excursions that allow you to stretch your travel budget further.

Destination dupes

Doing a little homework can point you in the direction of alternatives to popular destinations.

For example, instead of Venice – which is literally sinking under the weight of tourism – consider visiting the town of Trieste, an old port town by the Adriatic Sea. If you are after stunning beaches and clear aqua water, Palawan in the Philippines is a good alternative for the Maldives. Or for an alternative to over-touristed St Tropez in France, Turkey's Bodrum coast offers comparable glamour and affordable luxury. Doing a little search can uncover similar destinations that offer the experience you are seeking, with all the benefits and none of the problems of the overhyped placed.

While the allure of ticking off the list of famous places is understandable, exploring less touristy places offers a wealth of unique experiences to the visitor, and benefits the local communities. So, the next time you plan an overseas holiday, think outside the square of the obvious destinations, and discover the hidden gems.
